C.1 SCOPE

The Office of the Chief Technology Officer (OCTO) – Network Operations Center (NOC) Program seeks an authorized reseller or manufacturer to satisfy the requirement to provide Netscout Infinistream hardware appliances which will replace the current end of life (EOL), and end of support and sniffing appliance equipment. The new network sniffing, will be used by OCTO to prevent network/application outages, determine the root cause of network/application problems, and optimize the network/applications which directly impact the revenue from DMV, the welfare of the District in terms of Public Safety (911), PARCC testing, and other applications and services from all of OCTO's customer base. This hardware refresh will allow OCTO visibility into the specific origin of a network/application issue and provide resolution within minutes versus days. In addition, it will provide proactive monitoring of the District of Columbia Network and applications to circumvent potential business impacting outages. Without this refresh, all of the departmental applications and network services are at risk of poor performance or complete outages.

The Netscout Infinistream hardware appliances are a newer, enhanced model that allow more throughput and monitoring capability, highly scalable and will replace the current End of Life, End of Support models.
